SACRED MUSIC DISCUSSED.

Dr. Griggs' lecture on Medieval and Biblical Hymns last evening, assisted by Mrs. Haesche and St. Paul's choir.
The third of the illustrated lectures on Worship Music before the Yale Divinity school was delivered last evening in the old College street church by Dr. John Cornelius Griggs on "Medieval and Biblical Hymns." The lecture was largely the expression of material to be discussed at the next lecture, on January 18.
Dr. Griggs discussed the psalms in frequent use, the Te Deum, the Stabat Mater, the Hora Novissima, the Magnificat and the Mass. The lecture was illustrated in every point by singing by the choir of St. Paul's church, with Mrs. W. E. Haesche soprano, Dr. Griggs baritone, and Professor F. A. Fowler organist. Mrs. Haesche was fine, especially so in the selections from Shelley and Parker. The choir showed exquisite taste and precision, while Dr. Griggs in rendering a selection from Stabat Mater was, as usual, nearly perfect.
The examples sung by the students of the divinity school were:
Te Deum Laudamus, probably given its present Latin form by Ambrosius in the fourth century; Gloria Patri; Jerusalem the Golden; Deus Misereatur, psalm 67; Venite psalm 95.
The program rendered by the St. Paul's choir was printed in a previous issue.
A jubilate, psalm 109, in B flat, from Schubert, was to have been sung, but was omitted.
The next lecture on January 18 at 2 p. m. will be on "Forms of Service." It will discuss the Anglican service, the Puritan usages, brief contrast of liturgical and non-liturgical traditions, and present tendencies.

COURT RECORD.

Superior Court—Judge Hall.

Another large batch of divorce cases was before Judge Hall yesterday. The divorces granted were as follows:
William A. Morse, the Center street tailor, from Hattie A. Morse, on the ground of adultery. Salvatore Marasca from Rosina Marasca on the ground of desertion and adultery. Frederick Gangel from Emily Gangel, on the ground of desertion. Preston E. Tanner of Waterbury from Ida A. Tanner on the ground of desertion. Catharine McDonald of Meriden from James McDonald on the grounds of desertion and intemperance.

A JUDGMENT ENTERED.

In the case of Moody against the town of New Haven, which involved the extension of East Grand avenue over the railroad track, a judgment was entered yesterday by agreement. The original layout provided that a bridge would have to be built over the railroad tracks. As the tracks were removed this was unnecessary, but an order of court was required before a new layout could be adopted without the bridge. An amicable suit was brought with the result before mentioned. The town saves $1,000 damages, which were awarded under the old layout. Town Counsel Goodhart is directly responsible for this saving.

OTHER CASES BEFORE JUDGE HALL.

A demurrer in the case of the Yale Gas Stove company against John B. Foley was submitted on briefs yesterday.
The case of Cooley against the Winchester Avenue Railroad company, for damages because of being thrown from a car one day last summer, was withdrawn as a settlement has been effected.
John Beach of Bridgeport secured a judgment of foreclosure for $2,500 against Joseph T. Havens, and the property foreclosed is on Lloyd street.
Miss Agnes Condrane was required to furnish a bond of $100 to prosecute in her slander suit against Robert T. Merwin.

Probate Court—Judge Cleveland.

Arguments were made in the probate court yesterday in the case of the application brought by George W. Ives to have his relative, Fred W. Blakeslee, committed to the insane asylum. Judge Callahan appeared for the plaintiff and Richard H. Tyner for Blakeslee. Judge Cleveland will decide the case this morning.

Court Notes.

SALOONKEEPERS SETTLED UP.
Patrick O'Keefe and John Mortell, who were found in their Grand avenue saloon last Sunday, settled their cases in the city court yesterday morning. O'Keefe paying costs and Mortell paying a fine of $25 and costs. Both claimed to be owners of the saloon and they said they were not open for business. Judge Dow, as provided by the new law, signed a statement advising that the license should not be revoked for the bonds forfeited by reason of the prosecution of this case.
